

Special Properties of Florida's Endemic Plants

10

	COCCOON This plant is a member of the fig family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.		FLORIDA BURNING BUSH This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.
	FLORIDA BLUEBERRY This plant is a member of the Ericaceae family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.		FLORIDA BURNING BUSH This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.
	FLORIDA BURNING BUSH This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.		FLORIDA BURNING BUSH This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.
	FLORIDA BURNING BUSH This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.		FLORIDA BURNING BUSH This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.
	FLORIDA BURNING BUSH This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.		FLORIDA BURNING BUSH This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.
	FLORIDA BURNING BUSH This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.		FLORIDA BURNING BUSH This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.

FLORIDA BURNING BUSH
This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.

FLORIDA BURNING BUSH
This plant is a member of the dogwood family and is found in the southern part of the state. It is a small, bushy plant with small, round fruits that are eaten by many birds and mammals.